

WHAT MATTERS NOW?

Mecca Brooks, Practitioner, Community Arts, Food Justice and Public Art Foci. Mecca's work is rooted in the development of sustainable decision-making necessary for healthy and viable transformative "spaces". Her work provides an invaluable resource for building human capital that promotes authenticity amongst fellow human beings. She believes everyone has the right to healthy affordable food and the know-how to create beauty in all "spaces". Mecca is currently a consultant for the Bronzeville Alliance and the Healthy Food Hub in Chicago, IL. She has an M.A. in Arts, Entertainment and Media Management from Columbia College Chicago and a B.S. in Film/Video from Rochester Institute of Technology.