

WHAT MATTERS NOW?

Dr. David Campbell is a writer and producer, specializing in photography, multimedia and politics. With both academic and practice-based credentials, he examines how documentary photography and photojournalism work, the opportunities multimedia bring, and the challenges presented by the revolutions in the new media economy. David writes regularly on his blog, where details of his productions, exhibitions and publications can also be found.

Links:

<http://www.david-campbell.org>